Segment by: Peter Craig FACI, FICRI, CCSMTT

Just who is Bruce Suprenant and what are his most important contributions to the concrete industry ?

Many do not know that before becoming a college professor, author, lecturer and concrete expert, Bruce aspired to a career in music. We in the concrete industry can be thankful that music turned out not to be his calling.

Bruce Suprenant is one of those extremely knowledgeable and talented individuals who has had a very successful and meaningful solo career.

However despite achieving notable success on his own, there are also times when a few very outstanding solo talents like Bruce reached an even greater level of success, and notoriety when they teamed up with another very talented person.

For Example

The Everly Brothers

Lennon & McCartney

Jon Bon Jovi & Richie Sambora

Simon & Garfunkel

And that happened in Bruce's Life

Bruce became one half of the concrete industry's own dynamic "Duo" that produced scores of technical articles and provided hours of verbal guidance that helped to shape the understanding of many in the concrete industry
