About the ACI Concrete Convention

The ACI Concrete Convention is the world’s gathering place for advancing concrete materials, design, construction, and repair, bringing together the world’s most well-known leaders with professionals looking to learn. Conventions provide a forum for networking and education and an opportunity to provide input on the concrete industry’s codes, specifications, and guides.

Committees meet to develop the standards, reports, and other documents necessary to keep up with the ever-changing world of concrete technology. Committee meetings are open to all registered Convention attendees.

Technical and educational sessions provide attendees with the latest research, case studies, best practices, and the opportunity to earn Professional Development Hours (PDHs).

Additionally, the Convention offers numerous networking events where you can expect to meet with many of the industry’s top engineers, architects, contractors, educators, manufacturers, and material representatives from around the world.

Title: Matriculating in Concrete*Speaker: Henry Prenger

A discussion of concepts and values that have proved invaluable over a long career in the concrete industry—many of which aren't typically covered in engineering school. This reflection includes insights gained later in my career while working with students on concrete competitions, particularly the Wilson Cup. Through these experiences, I've come to better understand what I wish I had known earlier in my professional journey, as well as how today's students are inspiring confidence that the next generation of engineers will be well prepared for the challenges ahead.

So please join the Women in ACI and support young professionals! There will be light refreshments and a cash bar.
